TO OUR DEFAMERS.

For many months the editor of the Herald has been the mark of a bunch of human hyenas, who have left no stone unturned to put him down and out. He has been defamed and libel before the people, and day and night, Sundays and Sunday nights, they have stood upon the streets, watching every opportunity to do us harm. In the meantime the Herald has trebled its subscription, and is still growing. And there is a cause, not far to see. It is generally known that we are a terror to evil doers and a stickler for the enforcement of the law; and that is why the gang of thieves, thugs, cut-throats and grafters undertook to put the Herald out of business, and, in their vain attempts, have subjected us to every treatment debased and depraved minds could conjure, which they have carried from the dark alleys and dens of vice to lodgeroom and pulpit, and even mobs and assassins have tried their hands, but failed, thanks to the good people everywhere who have so loyally stood by us and encouraged us in the right.

It is some gratification to know that the twenty-eight years of useful life among the people of Pemiscot county, and a newspaper career extending back seventeen years have stood us in good stead, and that the hundreds of people in Pemiscot county who have known us from infancy and boyhood, are our best friends; it is pleasant to know that living here in the shadow of our old home and the place of our birth, forty miles away, we have only to call, and preachers, lawyers, doctors, bankers, merchants and farmers, unite in writing us letters commending us for rising from a poor, homeless, uneducated, orphan boy and against great affliction and adversity, to the position in the world we occupy today, which, though humble, is useful to mankind. So, after all, those who know us best esteem us most.

Bear in mind, reader, no attack has ever been made upon our present life nor for a quarter of a century past; no statement of ours has been denied or disputed. Why? There can be but one answer. Evil men and evil minds always try to destroy everything that exposes them or blocks their way, and we are glad a wise Providence gave us this little task of out-generaling a bunch of aged, gray and hoary crooks, hardened and steeped and dyed in sin. It took a younger and more vigorous hand to cope with them, and once in the fight, it had to be to a finish.

THE DOVE OF PEACE.

We said last week, when B. F. Whiskers was overwhelmingly defeated for mayor, that we hoped good-will and good-fellowship would once more reign among our people, and that the dove of peace would spread its protecting wings over our fair little city. But we were doomed to disappointment, since the aforesaid "gentleman(?)" has seen fit to continue his personal warfare against us. When this man began his fight against us he had what was apparently a very successful little business, but failure overtook him and, with his sons, he went down and out. He then tried to start in the restaurant business, but failed to get support. He was holding the office of justice of the peace, but was defeated last August for re-election. He was holding the office of mayor of this city, but was defeated Tuesday, April 6, for re-election. Not only has he played a losing game, but his chief henchman and aides have not escaped the hand of retribution that hangs over every man who deceives the public. His first financier against us stole $900 from the Frisco and had to make his get-away. The man who was induced to put up the money to import the Turncoat here for the express purpose of "putting us out of business" has been the loser many thousands of dollars in financial reverses, to say nothing of other things. Then his wonderful "Sherlocko," who continually tries to push himself into the company of decent white women, has been caught, with his chum and pal, associating with negro prostitutes, while "Noseglasses" left a string of worthless checks in his wake.

While the public may be tired of this matter, we have our own interests to protect, and, if necessary, we will fight right down to the last ditch—until the last victim is buried so deep in oblivion that even Gabriel's horn will not cause his dry bones to rattle.

The Herald was recently the means of sending one man to the penitentiary for twenty years, after he had been liberated by Old Ben, who even sought to save him in the circuit court, but he should have gone for thirty years, and his two accomplices should have gone with him. That several others are not in the penitentiary, where they properly belong, is no fault of ours, since records have been destroyed and shady alliances formed to defeat justice, and in one case an officer, after making a trip of twenty-two hundred miles to prosecute a case that was about to be barred by the statutes of limitation, was not permitted to do so.

News comes from every part of the county that the farmers are busy, and that they are getting along nicely with their work. Only in a few instances the report comes that some farmer is unable to begin his crop. Now, right here is a point that should be firmly impressed upon everyone. If the farmer cannot begin his crop, what is he going to do? We have had much nice weather, and, as farm labor is healthful and invigorating, what was to keep the farmer from getting out and cutting stalks, cleaning up his land and placing it in readiness for the plow? A man would be no worse off doing this than he would be doing nothing, and, by doing something, would demonstrate his determination, and his merchants and banks, or someone, would come to his rescue. There is always a way provided for every man who tries, but the time is passing when the man who does not try will be a desirable tenant. Credit has been too easy; the people, in general, have been living too fast and spending too much, and the present hard times should teach a valuable lesson.

How many printers are advancing their prices along with the times? Since the European war began job ink has advanced 25 per cent, and colored inks are getting scarce. Our paper and inkhouse wrote us the other day that they were finding it hard to get colored inks anywhere, and that colored paper was becoming very scarce. This means a higher price for the printer to pay, and he should, in self-protection, advance his prices in proportion to the prices he has to pay. All other kinds of businesses do so.

The federal grand jury at Cape Girardeau this week promises to be a warm member, and no doubt several things of interest to the people of Pemiscot county will be threshed out. Diligent inquiry as to certain violations of the federal law has been made, and no doubt much good will be accomplished.

If the original affidavits for hunting licenses in the county clerk's office had not been destroyed, it is reasonably certain that the Herald would have landed an old and long offender in the penitentiary before the people had time to crop his political career.

New Bakery.

Ray and Elbert Hopkins of Jonesboro, Ark., were here last week, making arrangements to open a first class bakery in this city. They will occupy the Averill building, between the square and the school house, and will build their own oven, their place will open May 1, and one of them will remain permanently to look after the business, while the other will remain with their bakery business at Jonesboro. They are brothers of Thos. Hopkins, the contractor, who will be a partner in the business. We hope for success for these gentlemen.
